MARBLE MURTIS · JAIPUR, INDIA

The Collection

Hindu deities and Jain murtis in marble
for homes, temples and custom commissions

OCTOBER 2026 EDITION · 151 PIECES

INTRODUCTION

Marble murtis from Jaipur, for homes and temples

For more than 25 years, Swarnim Arts has made marble murtis of Hindu deities and Jain Tirthankaras in Jaipur, Rajasthan. Our murtis stand in temples across India, including the Chhatarpur Mandir in Delhi and a Shani mandir, and in many Jain mandirs.

This catalogue shows 151 pieces across 15 collections, all carved entirely by hand in our workshop. We work in Makrana, Vietnam and Jhiri marble, black stone and other stones, at any height a project needs.

We ship worldwide, packed by our own team to industrial export standards. Prices are quoted on request, including packing and shipping.

FREE VIDEO CONSULTATION

Any enquiry, however small, can begin with a free video call on Zoom or Google Meet: see pieces, discuss sizes and ask questions before you decide.

TEMPLES & CUSTOM COMMISSIONS

How we work with you

Many murtis are made to a family's or a temple's own requirements. Whether you are choosing a piece from this catalogue or commissioning something new, the conversation follows the same four steps.

01 Enquiry

Tell us the deity, the height you have in mind, the posture and the finish, and where the murti will be installed. Write to us by email or WhatsApp, or use the enquiry form on our website. If you have seen a piece in this catalogue, quote its reference code.

02 Specifications & reference images

Share the measurements of the mandir, sinhasan or niche, and any reference photographs or drawings of the form your family, priest or temple committee prefers.

03 Video consultation

A free call on Zoom or Google Meet. We show you pieces, talk through proportions, details and finish, and answer questions. Family members, priests, trustees or your architect are welcome to join the same call.

04 Quotation

We send a quotation for the agreed specification, including packing and shipping to your destination. Timing depends on the size and detail of each piece and is discussed with you before you commit.

FOR TEMPLE TRUSTS & MANDIR DEVELOPERS

Murtis for temples

We welcome enquiries from temple trusts, mandir committees, architects and developers, for a principal murti or a complete set of deities, made to the height your project needs. Our murtis stand in temples across India, including the Chhatarpur Mandir in Delhi and a Shani mandir, and in many Jain mandirs. Each project is quoted individually.

What helps us quote

- The deities required, and whether any are to be carved together on one base (for example Ram Darbar or Shiv Parivar).
- Height of each murti, and the measurements of the garbhagriha, sinhasan or niche.
- Posture, iconographic details and finish, with reference photographs or drawings if your acharya or architect has specified them.
- The installation site and the date you are working towards, such as a pran pratishtha.

Review it together

A free video consultation on Zoom or Google Meet lets trustees, priests and your architect see pieces and discuss proportions on the same call, wherever they are.

Sets in this catalogue

Family groups carved as sets: Ram Darbar (SA-RAM-01, SA-RAM-02) and Shiv Parivar (SA-SHP-01, SA-SHP-02, SA-SHP-03, SA-SHP-04). Radha Krishna pairs are in their own collection.

WHOLESALE & TRADE ENQUIRIES

For retailers & importers

If you buy murtis for resale, or on behalf of temples and clients, we are glad to hear from you. Trade enquiries are quoted individually.

Please send us

- Your company name, country and the kind of business you run.
- The reference codes and quantities you are interested in, or the deities, sizes and finishes you want us to quote for.
- The delivery destination, and the date you need the pieces by.
- Any packing, labelling or documentation requirements for your market.

What happens next

We reply with what we can offer for your list and a quotation including packing and shipping to your destination. Pricing, quantities and terms are agreed per enquiry; this catalogue is not a trade price list.

Book a free video consultation on Zoom or Google Meet to see pieces and finishes before you order.

HOW TO ORDER INTERNATIONALLY

Ordering from outside India

We ship worldwide, including to the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, the United Arab Emirates, New Zealand, Singapore and Europe. Every order starts with a short enquiry; we then quote including packing and shipping to your address.

What to send us

DEITY	Which deity or figure, and the reference code if it is in this catalogue.
HEIGHT	The height you want, and the space it will sit in (shelf, mandir or niche measurements).
POSTURE	Seated, standing, on a lotus or sinhasan, and any details your tradition specifies.
FINISH	Natural white polish, painted details with gold work, or fully painted.
DESTINATION	Country, city and postcode for delivery.
TIMELINE	The date you are working towards, such as a griha pravesha or festival.

Free video consultation

Before you decide, we can show you pieces on a free video call on Zoom or Google Meet, to check the face, the carving and the finish, and to compare sizes.

Then

1. We send a quotation including packing and shipping to your destination.
2. Payment in three stages as your murti takes shape: 50% advance to begin, 25% once carving is complete and before packing, and the balance before dispatch. For larger temple projects we will agree a schedule that suits your committee.
3. Your murti is packed by our own specialised team to industrial export packing standards, and shipped to you.

More on international orders: swarnimarts.com/international-orders

BEFORE YOU ENQUIRE

Measure the inside height, width and depth of your mandir or shelf, and note whether the murti will be seen from below, at eye level or from above.

Ask us for close-up photographs or a video view of the face, eyes and hands, where the quality of carving is most visible.
